What is wonderment?

Wonderment thrives from being with, working with, imagining with, making mischief with, problem-solving with, being loving with someone who makes you feel that you can change the world.

From being held in enduring trust, in the quiet of unshakable respect, in the togetherness of conjuring deep possibility.

From a place of humility, being generous with each other, and the world. Having empathy for each other’s paths, and daring enough to carve one together.

In shared entrepreneurship, loving life partnership in artistry, in social impact. In friendship and familyhood.

Partnerships change the world.

Who is your +wonder? And what can we teach each other about what it means to flourish?
